7,500 children from one school system in El Salvador are being taught CDG curriculum

CDG has been blessed over the years by René Mejía Vides, a long-time, faithful ministry partner. René pastors a church and runs a system of Christian schools in El Salvador. A few years ago, a partnership was formed between René, the Liceos Cristianos schools, and CDG to provide curriculum to 7,500 children at a substantially discounted, affordable rate.

Please pray for the Liceos Cristianos school system, Julio—their Christian education director, the teachers and the children learning about the Gospel.

I often ponder this huge number of children...not focusing on the number, but rather on the fact that these children are being taught about our great God, who is unlike any other—and it's not just them. Liceos Cristianos requires parents to discuss these truths with their children, and encourages the parents to apply the truths to their own lives as well.

We will not know until eternity the impact these young people will have on El Salvador, and on God's Kingdom on earth. What a privilege this partnership has been!
